Florence | July, 17-20, 2019

The Italian Society of Community Psychology (SIPCO) organize the third edition of the International Summer school in Community Research on "methods for research, action, and change in the community field".

The school will present a theoretical framework and empirical tools for research on communities. The classes will be focused on two specific tools commonly used in the recent years because of their applicability using digital technologies. After a theoretical introduction, the two methods will be presented by mean of practical examples underlining and limits of the techniques.

Web Focus

The use of traditional focus groups in mediated environment limiting the typical effects of face-to-face interaction

Delphi method

An interactive forecasting method that relies on a panel of experts used for participatory research. It allow the sharing of a common view on a specific problem and the planning of a possible intervention to solve the problem.

Arrangement

The Summer School will take place in Florence from 17 to 20 July 2019. Classes will be held at the Department of Education and Psychology, on the following dates:

July 17 to 19, 9:00 to 13:00 and 14:00 to 18:00, Via di San Salvi 12

July 20 9:00 to 13:00, via Laura 48
